Fidel Castro Ruz

El Gobierno Revolucionario puso en práctica medidas de beneficio popular, que a la vez desataron la reacción de la burguesía nacional y del imperialismo yanqui. Entre ellas la más radical fue la Primera Ley de Reforma Agraria. En virtud de la ley, el 5 de enero de 1960, se le entregaron títulos de propiedad de la tierra a los campesinos del Central Australia. Además en zonas rurales de este territorio se constituyeron cooperativas y granjas del pueblo.

Eso es lo que no pueden perdonarnos: que estemos ahí en sus narices ¡Y que hayamos hecho una Revolución Socialista en las propias narices de los Estados Unidos! ¡Y que esa Revolución Socialista la defenderemos con esos fusiles!
¡Y que esa Revolución Socialista la defenderemos con el valor con que ayer nuestros artilleros antiaéreos acribillaron a balazos a los aviones agresores!
Obreros y campesinos, hombres y mujeres ¿juran defender hasta la última gota de sangre esta revolución de los humildes, por los humildes y para los humildes?:

PLANT MITOSIS

Interphase

Most cellular metabolic activity takes place during interphase. During this time the following events happen:

- Most cells increase in mass.
- Cell organelles such as ribosomes, mitochondria, endoplasmic reticulum, and centrioles are duplicated.
- DNA is synthesized and chromosomes are duplicated. Each chromosome and its duplicate are joined at a region called the centromere. Together they are considered as one chromosome comprising two parts called sister chromatids. They are not visible until the chromosomes tightly coil (condense) during mitosis.

Prophase

Interphase

Metaphase

Anaphase

Telophase and Cytokinesis

Prophase

Chromosomes condense and become visible. The nuclear membrane and nucleolus disappear. A spindle apparatus begins to form. In animal cells, centriole pairs move to either end of the cytoplasm. The latter part of this phase is also called prometaphase.

Metaphase

Chromosomes align themselves in a plane which is perpendicular to the center of the spindle. This plane is called the metaphase plate.

Anaphase

Sister chromatids split at the centromere and travel towards opposite ends of the spindle. Each chromatid is now considered a full chromosome.

Telophase

Chromosomes arrive at the ends of the spindle and the spindle apparatus begins to disassemble. New nuclear membranes are formed around the chromosomes and the chromosomes uncoil. Cytokinesis or cell division begins as a cleavage furrow (in animal cells) and a cell plate (in plant cells).

The background to this display case is an image of the cell division zone from African caps onion root.

Sunday Communion - 7/14/19

Passage: Titus 3:3-7
Thesis- Freedom in Christs Love and Mercy

Greetings: Me and Marone
And now are at the part of our service where we take communion to remember Jesus Christ.

Before I read, I have a question I like for us to think about: Can you think of a time where you felt trapped to a current situation, trapped to your past, or to anything?
If you have your bibles open, turn to Titus 3:3-7.

(Reads passage)

One of the ways I felt trapped was by fear. Fear in speaking in public, being around large crowds, sharing my faith, ushering and so fourth, the feeling of being trapped by fear would at times be greater than the faith I should have in God to get me through those times of fear.
So when I read about " the kindness and love of God our Savior and His mercy and grace", Im reminded of God's love in how that gives me strength to push past my fear but also how it brings about repentance and a transformation in my life so that I can experience the joy and freedom that comes from Christ so I no longer have to feel trapped by circumstances.

The chart on the other side shows approximately how often trips operate on each route. For a detailed map and schedule information, refer to the printed schedule, available at Metro Transit stores and hundreds of area retail outlets. Call 612-373-3333 (TTY 612-341-0142) to have a schedule mailed to you. Schedules also can be viewed and printed at metrotransit.org

Psalm 16

A miktam[a] of David.

1 Keep me safe, my God,
for in you I take refuge.

2 I say to the LORD, "You are my Lord;
apart from you I have no good thing."
3 I say of the holy people who are in the land,
"They are the noble ones in whom is all my delight."
4 Those who run after other gods will suffer more and more.
I will not pour out libations of blood to such gods or take up their names on my lips.

5 LORD, you alone are my portion and my cup;
you make my lot secure.
6 The boundary lines have fallen for me in pleasant places;
surely I have a delightful inheritance.
7 I will praise the LORD, who counsels me;
even at night my heart instructs me.
8 I keep my eyes always on the LORD.
With him at my right hand, I will not be shaken.

9 Therefore my heart is glad and my tongue rejoices;
my body also will rest secure,
10 because you will not abandon me to the realm of the dead, nor will you let your faithful[b] one see decay.
11 You make known to me the path of life;
you will fill me with joy in your presence,
with eternal pleasures at your right hand.

Main article: Multicolor

Some cards are multicolored (sometimes called "gold" due to their card frame), meaning they require more than one type of mana to use. Although Invasion block, the first set prominently themed around multicolor, was a smashing success (as evidenced by a definite spike in tournament attendance), in Mark Rosewater's words, it wasn't really a mechanic they explored much. The card pool was dominated by "Chinese menu" cards, meaning they took one ability from two colors, scrunched them together on one card, and saw what happened. (the old adage of "one from column A, one from column B")

The "guild model" from Ravnica block has given way to a new era of understanding color combinations (especially two-color combinations). Mark Rosewater boldly campaigned to showcase all ten two-color combinations equally. Later the "small plane model" (shards) from Alara block and the "clan model" (wedges) from Tarkir block added a deeper understanding of the three-color combinations. Finally Commander 2016 gave an Identity to the notoriously hard to design four-color combinations.

The last color combination is WUBRG (⚪🔵⚫🔴🟢) which combines aspects from each color.

Payback 2

The story continues! Miss Chang flew off to New York...without paying her employees. Her main enforcer Papi, who delivered Michelle her notice to pay or else in Payback! is pissed. She looks thru the files to find Miss Chang's recent clients. Michelle's name is found and Papi plans to have her make a visit to Miss Chang's office. Unbeknownst to Michelle, she thinks she is coming to meet Miss Chang for some kind of meeting. Papi has other plans!

Michelle Tickles Papi - Pt 2

Michelle still has control of Papi. She teases her by pulling out the PowerScrubber which Papi has never experienced! So before using it, Michelle decides to show her bare soles and toes some love. And just when Papi is enjoying the foot worship, Michelle flicks on that switch. Once her toes feel the touch of those fast moving bristles, her giggles turn to full loud laughter! Michelle is relentless working over her feet and legs. Now get ready to turn your speakers down, cause when Michelle straddles Papi's body and uses that Scrubber on her armpits, the laughter is insane! She gets her neck, belly, under her shirt, sides...it's total laughter every second. Switching tools...who thought a little toothbrush would effect her long toe stems? Well it surely does in this clip. Michelle is back to her toes and soles with this item. It's not enough for Michelle as she goes back to using the PowerScrubber, toothbrush and her mouth all at the same time on Papi's upperbody. She now knows how it feels to be tied up and tickled. Her response to it all? "Yayy, it's so cool!"

Another Day Of Tickling - Pt 1

Michelle comes over to do a photo shoot in her various new shoes. After dominating most of the day, photo shoot and Andre, she decides to relax on the bed. Removing her heels and pretty much running things. How can Andre get repaid for such abuse all day? Another Day of Tickling! Michelle is stretched out and "The Lucky Guy" decides to use some padded cuffs to bind her hands to the bed frame. He starts with her armpits, and works his way into her ticklish neck. He finds her weak spot which is right under her breasts and along her sides of them. He gives it to her good and then flips her over and begins to tickle her sides, and underbelly. While tickling her, Michelle's cell phone goes off! Oh No! She HAS to pay the price for that! He takes another cuff to her right ankle and ties that rope to her belt, putting her in a half hogtie leg. He plays and tickles her foot. She is squirming and laughing then he attacks her armpit and foot at the same time!

Maya now has to endure up close upperbody tickling while still tied to the bed. Sitting just above her head, her bare armpits are fully exposed and from the first touch of fingers, its like electric shocks going thru her. Screaming and laughter come out of Maya. Getting her belly and back and sides have her flopping back and forth like a fish. Next her armpits get a double feather tickling. One feather finds its way to her ticklish belly button. Working down, Maya wants her clit tickled! Using the silver toy, she loves the feeling it gives her while being tickled. Finishing with more upperbody tickling, leaves Maya truly exhausted!

Maya's Table Top Tickling

After many delays, finally Maya is back. And man oh man, is this a wildly ticklish girl. My first in doing a fully tied and tickle session with an Indian girl. And I did all I could to get her ticklish spots...there were SO MANY! Just look at the sample photos and see the actual reactions of Maya having her ears, armpits, sides, stomach and even her belly button tickled! This was a good catch and hard to constrain her. You must enjoy this one of Maya!

Humility is a strange thing. The minute you think you've got it, you've lost it. – E. D. Hulse

10. Infinite Bolas

Oath of Teferi means that you can activate loyalty abilities twice, and the rules treat Jace's -5 as "make two copies of this card."

So you can cast Nicol Bolas, activate his +1 ability, and then leech Jace's -5 ability. This creates two copies of Bolas, and then the same process turns them into four, eight, sixteen, and so on. That's the unlimited power that the Dragon-God was after, and if you keep activating his own +1 ability along the way every time, your opponent is left with no cards in hand and no permanents on the battlefield.

What's your favorite combo with War of the Spark cards?

Saved in Order to Do Good

3 Remind the people to be subject to rulers and authorities, to be obedient, to be ready to do whatever is good, 2 to slander no one, to be peaceable and considerate, and always to be gentle toward everyone.

3 At one time we too were foolish, disobedient, deceived and enslaved by all kinds of passions and pleasures. We lived in malice and envy, being hated and hating one another.
4 But when the kindness and love of God our Savior appeared, 5 he saved us, not because of righteous things we had done, but because of his mercy. He saved us through the washing of rebirth and renewal by the Holy Spirit, 6 whom he poured out on us generously through Jesus Christ our Savior, 7 so that, having been justified by his grace, we might become heirs having the hope of eternal life. 8 This is a trustworthy saying. And I want you to stress these things, so that those who have trusted in God may be careful to devote themselves to doing what is good. These things are excellent and profitable for everyone.

Manhattan Division [edit]

The Manhattan and Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority (MaBSTOA), a subsidiary of the New York City Transit Brand, operates all of the local buses in Manhattan.[68] All Manhattan Bus Depots are represented by TWU Local 100.

Buses in the Manhattan Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Amsterdam Depot [edit]

Amsterdam Depot at 129th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, Manhattan

Amsterdam Depot is located on the entire city block bounded by Amsterdam Avenue, Convent Avenue, and 128th and 129th Streets in Manhattanville, Manhattan, several blocks south of the City College of New York.[76][148] It was built in 1882 as a trolley depot for the Third Avenue Railway.[5][76] The last trolley was operated from the building on May 17, 1947.[8] The building was then expanded and reopened as a bus garage by Surface Transit Inc., a subsidiary of the Fifth Avenue Coach Company.[5][82] The MaBSTOA assumed the depot's operations in 1962.[5] The MTA shut down the Amsterdam Depot's bus operations on September 7, 2003, the day the new 100th Street Depot (since renamed the Tuskegee Airmen Depot) opened. The depot was part of the Manhattan Division until spring 1998, when it was transferred to the Bronx Division due to the opening of the Michael J. Quill Depot and the closure of the Walnut Depot.[149] On January 6, 2008, MTA reopened the depot temporarily because of a rehabilitation project at the Mother Clara Hale Depot. Amsterdam Depot closed on June 27, 2010 due to service cuts. The M1 and M7 routes were transferred to Manhattanville, while the M98 route went to Michael J Quill Depot. This garage now houses and maintains most of the museum and vintage bus fleet.

Manhattanville Depot [edit]

Manhattanville Depot

The Manhattanville Depot, formerly the 132nd Street Depot,[148][150] is a three-story structure located in the block bounded by Broadway, Riverside Drive, and 132nd and 133rd Streets in Manhattanville, Manhattan.[148][151] The depot is viewable from the IRT Broadway – Seventh Avenue Line between 125th Street and 137th Street – City College. The depot holds 192 buses, with storage space on the second and third floors.[152] The original site on 132nd Street and Broadway[153] was a streetcar barn built in 1918 for the Fifth Avenue Coach Company, which later used it for buses.[5][151] The facility was taken over by the MaBSTOA subsidiary of the Transit Authority in March 1962.[5][18][19][153] It served as the headquarters for the MaBSTOA.[5] The original depot was demolished in the late 1980s,[5][151] and a new depot was erected opening on November 8, 1992,[5] replacing the old 54th Street Depot (also a former Fifth Avenue Coach facility) which closed the same day. In September 1998, the depot operated a pilot fleet of 10 Orion VI hybrid electric buses.[68][152][154][155] Also that year, it was planned to convert the depot into a compressed natural gas (CNG) facility due to community complaints, but the plan was scrapped due to the high cost of converting such a large facility.[151][156]

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M2, M3, M4, M5, M10, M11 (shared with Michael J Quill Depot) M96, M98, M106, M104, M116 (shared with Michael J Quill Depot)

The Quill Depot is the largest MTA depot in the city, consisting of three floors and rooftop parking for buses.[160] It is known for a unique "drum-like" structure at the northeast corner of the site, which holds the ramps between the levels.[160][161] Maintenance facilities are located on the first and second floors.[160] It originally featured training and sleeping quarters for Greyhound drivers.[160] The depot stores around 250 to 350 buses.[158][159][160] It is also used for midday layovers for express buses from other boroughs, with additional layover areas nearby in Midtown.[4][164][165] The depot was proposed to be relocated to a site on the west side between West 30th and 31st Streets, as part of a planned expansion of the Javits Center,[157][161] which was slated to be completed by 2010 but never fully commenced.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M8, M9, M11 (only Some Weekday Rush hour trips utilize Quill buses), M12, M20, M21, M22, M42, M50, M55, M57, M66, M72, M116 (only Some Weekday Rush hour trips utilize Quill buses).

Mother Clara Hale Depot [edit]

Mother Clara Hale Bus Depot

The former Lenox Avenue Car House, now the site of the Hale Depot.

The site of the Mother Clara Hale Depot, formerly named the 146th Street Depot until 1993,[148][150][166][167] is located at 721 Lenox Avenue, filling the block bounded by Lenox Avenue, Seventh Avenue, and 146th and 147th Streets in Harlem, Manhattan, two blocks south of the Harlem–148th Street subway station.[166] The three-floor structure has capacity for 150 buses.[166][167] The depot is named for Harlem humanitarian Clara Hale.[166][168]

The site of the depot was initially home to the Lenox Avenue Car House, a two-story car barn and power station, built by the Metropolitan Street Railway for their Lenox Avenue Line, the first line in the city to use conduit electrification. The line and depot began service on July 9, 1895.[166][169] The New York City Omnibus Corporation, which had replaced the trolley lines with bus routes in 1936, began constructing a new bus garage on the site in 1938.[166][170] Operations from the new depot began on July 31, 1939.[166][171] It was rehabilitated in 1990.[167][172] This depot had capacity for 123 buses.[166] On September 23, 1993 it was renamed the Mother Clara Hale Depot.[5][167][168]

The previous depot building closed in January 2008 and was demolished in spring 2009.[164][167][172] To make up for the lack of storage space, the Amsterdam Depot reopened temporarily, with some routes shifted to Manhattanville and West Farms. The old depot was originally a part of the Bronx Division. A new garage was built on the site after demolition, designed as a "green depot" with solar panels and features for energy conservation and efficiency.[166][167][172] The new depot was opened on November 20, 2014, at the cost of $262 million.[167][172][173] The new depot, which can now house 150 buses, has replaced the 126th Street Depot, which lies above a historical 17th century African-American burial ground; it opened as a directly-run NYCT depot in the Manhattan Division like the 126th Street Depot[5] on January 4, 2015, though many routes are operated from other depots.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: M1, M7[168]
- Articulated Local Routes: M15 SBS

Tuskegee Airmen Depot [edit]

The Tuskegee Airmen Depot, formerly named 100th Street Depot,[5][148] is located at 1552 Lexington Avenue,[174] filling the block bounded by Park Avenue, Lexington Avenue, and 99th and 100th Streets in the East Harlem neighborhood of Manhattan, north of the 96th Street subway station, and near the 97th St portal of the Park Avenue Tunnel. The depot had been a car barn for streetcars on the Lexington Avenue Line, built in 1895.[5] The depot was closed in spring 1998 and was demolished, and reconstructed, while the Michael J. Quill Depot was opened to replace it.[5][149] The depot reopened on September 7, 2003,[68][175] taking on a number of routes from the Hudson Depot.[176] It became the Tuskegee Airmen Depot on March 23, 2012, in honor of the famous World War II airmen.[68] The facility has drawn the ire of many East Harlem residents; many residents cite high asthma rates in the area and the fact that the depot is in a residential area.[175][177]

This depot houses the buses used on the M15, M101, M102, and M103 articulated routes, as well as one standard local route the M31. The depot is also used for midday layovers of express buses from other boroughs.[164]

Queens Division [edit]

MTA Regional Bus Operations operate various local and express routes under New York City Transit and MTA Bus Company, with three Queens MTA Bus Company depots (Baisley Park, College Point & LaGuardia) being members of Transport Workers Union Local 100[178][179][180][181] and all Queens NYCT depots, Far Rockaway Depot & JFK Depot being members of ATU Local 1056 and Local 1179 of Queens, New York.[182] All New York City Transit Queens Division supervisors are members of Transport Workers Union Local 106.[183]

Note; Buses in the Queens Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Baisley Park Depot [edit]

Baisley Park Bus Depot

The Baisley Park Depot is located at the southeast corner of Guy R. Brewer Boulevard and Linden Boulevard (114-15 Guy R. Brewer Boulevard)[26] in South Jamaica, Queens, in the New York City borough of Queens, northeast of Baisley Pond Park.[41][184] It is owned by GTJ Reit Inc. (Green, Triboro, Jamaica) Realty Investment Trust, Inc., successor to the former operators and Command Bus Company, and leased to the City of New York, and operated by MTA Bus Company for a period of 21 years.[24][26][185] The brick facility was opened in 1966 and was operated by Jamaica Buses; the company's original depot was located across the street (114-02 Guy R. Brewer Boulevard) before the land was acquired by New York State in 1958.[41][185][36][186] On January 30, 2006, it was leased to the City of New York and MTA Bus.[4] Later that year, a bus operator training center was opened at the facility.[187] In 2016, the depot began receiving articulated buses. These buses are mainly used by the Guy R. Brewer Boulevard routes.[188][189][190]

As of summer 2016, this depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: Q64, Q110, Q112[181][191]
- Articulated Local Routes: Q111, Q113, Q114[181][188][191]
- Express Routes: QM4, QM21, QM44[191]

The Q64 used to be the Q65A of Queens Surface Corporation, later operating from the MTA's College Point Depot until 2010. The QM4, also a former Queens Surface route, operated from the College Point Depot until 2016. Later in the year, the QM44 was created to ease confusion between the Third Avenue and Sixth Avenue branches of the QM4. The remaining routes had been Jamaica Bus routes.[181][192]

Casey Stengel Depot [edit]

The Casey Stengel Depot in 2018, as seen from the footbridge between the Mets-Willets Point subway and LIRR stations.

The Casey Stengel Depot, formerly the Flushing Depot, is located on the south side of Roosevelt Avenue in Flushing Meadows-Corona Park in Queens, west of 126th Street and east of the New York City Subway's Corona Yard. The depot is named after Casey Stengel, former manager of the New York Yankees and New York Mets, and is across the street from Citi Field, where the Mets play. The original Flushing Depot was inherited from the defunct North Shore Bus Company in 1947.[5][8] The depot was rebuilt by the city in the late 1940s, re-opening in 1950.[5][6] This depot suffered from structural problems due to poor soil conditions. In the early 1980s, the NYCTA decided to rebuild the depot, and in 1986 a $2.2 million contract was awarded to Howard, Needles, Tamamen and Bergendoff to design the new depot, which they finished in June 1987. They developed plans for a maintenance building and a transportation building to allow buses to continue using the depot while construction was going on. The $1.3 million contract for the foundation work for the two buildings was awarded to the Pile Foundation Construction Company in April 1987, and the contract $53.5 million contract for the depot's contrution was awarded to Carlin-Atlas Joint Venture in June 1997. This depot was rebuilt again in the 1990s, opening on August 16, 1992.[5][36] At this time, it was renamed the Casey Stengel Depot.[5] The depot's rebuilding cost $55 million. The depot, which consists of 71,000 square feet, has 11 bus lifts.[193] This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: Q12, Q13, Q15, Q15A, Q16, Q20A/Q20B (shared with Queens Village Depot), Q26, Q28, Q31 (shared with Queens Village Depot), Q32, Q48, Q76

College Point Depot [edit]

Pay loaders and New Flyer CNG buses at the College Point Depot.

The College Point Depot is located on 28th Avenue near Ulmer Street in the College Point section of Queens, near the printing plant of The New York Times, the former site of Flushing Airport, and directly behind the headquarters of Queens Surface on land owned by New York City.[41][194][195] The depot stores around 250 buses.[196] Construction on the $43 million project began in 1993. The depot was supposed to be completed by spring 1996, but was delayed to October 1997 because the general contractor for the project quit the job. As of June 1996, the project was 60% completed. In August 1996, the electrical contractor stopped work on the project due to a contract dispute with the NYCDOT.[197] The depot opened on October 31, 1997, a year ahead of a previous estimate.[198] The depot increased the number of its wash bays from 1 to 3, and doubled the company's repair bays to 24.[199] It was built with space for 275 uses and 400 cars. This was the first CNG fueling station to be built by and owned by the city. It is owned by the New York City Department of Transportation and leased to MTA Bus.[3][27][194] It had been leased to Queens Surface Corporation before the lease was taken over by MTA Bus.[194] Many buses under Queens Surface used compressed natural gas,[41] and all local bus service from this depot operates using CNG provided by Trillium CNG.[1][36][196] In 2006, a unified command center for MTA Bus Company was established at the depot.[187] Also, plans are underway to modify this depot to accommodate articulated-buses in the very near future.

In 2015, this depot housed the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: Q19, Q23, Q25, Q34, Q38, Q65, Q66.[200] The Q25, Q34, Q65, and Q66 had been Queens Surface routes, while the Q19, Q23 and Q38 (former Triboro Coach routes) had operated from the LaGuardia Depot.[201]
- Express Routes: BxM9 (rush hours shared with Eastchester), QM1, QM2 (shared with Eastchester), QM3, QM5, QM6, QM7, QM8, QM10, QM11, QM12, QM20, QM31, QM32 (shared with Eastchester), QM35, QM36, QM40, QM42 [53][200]

Far Rockaway Depot [edit]

Buses of the Far Rockaway Depot covered in snow in January 2018

The Far Rockaway Depot is situated on Rockaway Beach Boulevard and Beach 49th Street (49-19 Rockaway Beach Boulevard)[26] in Arverne / Edgemere, Queens on the Rockaway Peninsula.[41] The depot was used by Green Bus Lines until January 9, 2006, when MTA Bus took over Green Bus Lines and started operating the old company's bus routes. The depot, as well as JFK Depot, are owned by GTJ Reit, Inc.,[24][26] except for the newly built annex building which is owned by the MTA-NYCTA, and had been used by Green Bus Lines Inc. before being leased to the City of New York and MTA Bus in 2006 for a period of 21 years. The depot has two storage lots and a small maintenance facility. Following damage from Hurricane Sandy, the facility was closed between October 2012 and February 2013, with its fleet housed at Building 78 on the grounds of John F. Kennedy International Airport two blocks away from the JFK Depot.[202] In 2014, the MTA opened a new annex building with a modern and updated maintenance facility, to expand this facility in order to maintain and support more buses.[36] The project to fully restore the depot was scheduled to begin in 2015,[50] but has yet to begin as of 2016.[36] It has also been proposed to partially power the facility using wind turbines.[47]

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes, all of which were descended from former Green Lines routes:[41][143][203]

- Local Routes: Q11, Q21, Q22, Q35, Q41
- Express Routes: QM15, QM16, QM17, QM18

Jamaica Depot [edit]

Jamaica Depot

The Jamaica Depot is located on the west side of Merrick Boulevard just south of Liberty Avenue in Jamaica, Queens. The depot lies between Merrick Boulevard to the east and 165th Street to the west, and spans about three blocks north-to-south between South Road and 107th Avenue, located across the campus of York College. The depot was opened by the North Shore Bus Company in August 1940[3][5][204][205] and inherited by the Board of Transportation in 1947.[5][8][206][207][208] An addition was constructed in 1950, adding additional storage and a bus washing area.[5][6][36] The depot was expanded again in 1968,[5][36] and from 1993 to 1994.[5]

The 58,000 square foot depot is the oldest existing New York City Transit Depot.[a][36][204] It holds 150 buses at capacity, but is assigned 208 buses, many of which are parked on the surrounding streets.[3][36][204] Due to its age and capacity issues and to accommodate articulated buses, the MTA plans to demolish the existing structure and build a new and expanded depot on the same site, as well as on 50,000 square feet of adjacent property purchased in April 2014. Construction was anticipated to begin in 2018, and be complete by 2022, with all of its buses, and local routes temporarily sent to other depots.[1][3][36][204]

This depot houses the buses used on the Q3, Q4, Q5, Q17, Q30, Q42, Q77, Q84, and Q85 local routes.[36][204]

John F. Kennedy Depot [edit]

An out-of-service bus in front of the JFK Depot.

John F. Kennedy Bus Depot or JFK Depot, along with Far Rockaway Depot, is an MTA Bus garage that used to be operated by Green Bus Lines and was assumed by MTA Bus on January 9, 2006.[4] It was the primary storage and maintenance facility for the company.[41] The depot was built from 1951 to 1952 at the cost of $500,000.[209] It is owned by GTJ Reit Inc (the successor to Green Lines) and is leased to the City of New York and operated by MTA Bus for a period of 21 years.[24][26] JFK Depot is located in Springfield Gardens at 147th Avenue and Rockaway Boulevard (165-25 147th Avenue)[26] near JFK Airport.[41]

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes, all of which used to be Green Lines routes:[41][203]

- Local Routes: Q6, Q7, Q8, Q9, Q37, Q40, Q60[210]

LaGuardia Depot [edit]

Buses at the LaGuardia Depot, including a former Triboro Coach RTS bus (far right).

LaGuardia Depot is located on a two-block long structure (85-01 24th Avenue)[26][212] bound by 85th and 87th Street, and 23rd and 24th Avenues in the East Elmhurst & Jackson Heights neighborhoods of Queens, New York near LaGuardia Airport.[213] The depot was opened on January 15, 1954,[212] is owned by GTJ Reit Inc,[26] and was operated by Triboro Coach Corporation[41] before being leased to the City of New York and operated by MTA Bus Company on February 20, 2006 for a period of 21 years.[4] In 1989, a methanol fuel station was installed at the facility for six General Motors-built RTS methanol buses.[139][140][214] It was later used in the early 1990s to fuel an NYCT demonstration bus from the Casey Stengel Depot[80] and three new Triboro-operated RTS buses fitted with special Detroit Diesel Series 92 engines.[215] Beginning in 1994, the facility dispatched compressed natural gas (CNG) buses in addition to its diesel fleet.[41][142][216] The depot was decommissioned from CNG operations in 2006 due to not meeting the MTA's safety and environmental standards.[4][217] On April 10, 2006, while workers from KeySpan were removing CNG from tanks and a private contractor was conducting construction near the depot, a gas compressor station exploded leading to a large fire at the depot. One bus was destroyed and 12 were damaged.[4][187][213][217][218] Also, work to modify this depot to accommodate articulated-buses is almost completed.

This depot houses the following bus routes. Many of these used to be Triboro Routes. Several had been Queens Surface Corporation routes that operate in western Queens, which were closer to the LaGuardia Depot than their former Queens Surface depot in College Point.

- Local Routes: Q18, Q29, Q33, Q39, Q47, Q49, Q67, Q69, Q70 SBS, Q72, Q100, Q101, Q102, Q103, Q104[219][220]
- Articulated Local Routes: Q53 SBS
- Express Routes: QM24, QM25, QM34[219][220]

The Queens Village Depot is located on 97-11 222nd Street between 97th and 99th Avenues in Queens Village, Queens, across to the west from Belmont Park.[221] The MTA began acquiring land for the depot in 1968.[222][222][223] The depot was opened on September 8, 1974,[5][224][225][226] and it is on the site of what was Dugan's Bakery.[5][222][224][227] Upon opening, the depot received many former North Shore Bus Company routes from the existing Casey Stengel and Jamaica Depots, and relieved overcrowding at those depots.[36][224][225][226] In 1979, the buses from the depot tested a radio-based real-time information system called the "Radio-Data-Locator System", precursor to MTA Bus Time.[228][229][230][231] The depot was renovated in 1987.[5] The depot stores around 250 buses.[222][225][228][229][232] It has 202,178 square feet (18,783.0 m^2) of space. The Queens Village Depot building won an Award Honor for engineering excellence from the New York Association of Consulting Engineers.

Staten Island Division [edit]

All Staten Island division bus depots are the members of Amalgamated Transit Union Local 726 of Staten Island, New York and are all operated by New York City Transit.[233]

Note; Buses in the Staten Island Division may be swapped between depots on an as-needed basis, and are not reflected in the route assignments as these are short term loans to cover services at these depots.

Castleton Depot [edit]

Castleton Depot, also called Castleton Avenue Depot,[6][234] is located on 1390 Castleton Avenue and fills the block bounded by Jewett Avenue, Hurst Street, Castleton Avenue, and Rector Street in Port Richmond.[6][234] A large parking lot on the east side of Rector Street is also used for bus storage. The depot was constructed in the late 1940s to provide urgently needed storage space for city-owned buses on Staten Island.[5][6] When Isle Transportation went bankrupt in 1947, the city's Board of Transportation (predecessor of NYC Transit) took control of the majority of Staten Island bus operations.[5][6][13] It was built to hold 135 buses,[235] and can now store about 340 buses.[236]

Castleton Avenue

Following the closure of the Brook Street Depot, Isle Transportation's original facility, in 1958,[237] Castleton Depot was the only city-owned depot on Staten Island and was known as Staten Island Depot. The next permanent depot to open in the borough was Yukon Depot, opened in 1981.[5] This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: S40, S42, S46, S48, S51, S52, S53, S54, S66, S76, S81, S86, S90, S93, S96, S98
- Express Routes: SIM1 (shared with Charleston, and Yukon Depots), SIM3 (shared with Meredith Av Depot), SIM22, SIM34 (shared with Meredith Av Depot), SIM35 (shared with Meredith Av Depot).

Charleston Depot [edit]

The Charleston Depot is located at 4700 Arthur Kill Road near the Outerbridge Crossing in Charleston, Staten Island.[28] The facility includes a 87,000-square-foot (8,100 m^2) two-story building, with enough room to service and maintain 220 buses, but also includes outdoor parking for buses and employees. The site was selected in 2000.[238] The depot was announced in September 2005 as part of the MTA's 2000-2004 Capital Plan, to relieve the overcrowding and maintenance and storage pressure's between the Castleton and Yukon bus depots, both of which had limited bus storage space. The depot was also intended to help expand express bus service in Staten Island, and improve service for then-36,000 Staten Islanders who used express buses.[236] A new depot had been planned for around 30 years, and attempts to secure funding lasted around a decade.[235][239][240] After delays due to lack of funding,[241] construction on the depot (then called the Charleston Bus Annex)[235][239] began on February 15, 2008.[239] The depot was opened on December 6, 2010.[28][242]

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Local Routes: S55, S56, S74, S78, S84
- Express Routes: SIM1 (shared with Castleton Avenue, and Yukon Depots), SIM2, SIM4, SIM4X (shared with Meredith Av Depot), SIM5 (shared with Yukon Depot), SIM6 (shared with Yukon Depot), SIM7 (shared with Yukon Depot), SIM8, SIM8X, SIM10 (shared with Yukon Depot), SIM25, SIM26, SIM31

Meredith Avenue Depot [edit]

Meredith Avenue Depot

The Meredith Avenue Depot or Meredith Depot is located at 280 and 336 Meredith Avenue, at the intersection of Meredith Avenue and South Avenue (formerly Chelsea Road) near the shoreline of Arthur Kill and Prall's Island in Chelsea.[28][243] This depot was constructed in 2009 to expand storage capacity in the borough, with the MTA operating the site on a 15-year lease.[164][243][244] The depot was built on largely vacant land, with the exception of an 1890s-era house.[243] It has space for 80 buses, and light maintenance facilities.[164][243][244] It operates only from Monday to Friday, and houses exclusively express buses,[243] which are rotated from the other Staten Island depots. Meredith Avenue depot was closed due to damage from Hurricane Sandy, but has since reopened.

This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

- Express Routes: SIM3 (shared with Castleton Av Depot), SIM4X (shared with Charleston Depot), SIM15, SIM30, SIM32, SIM33, SIM34 (shared with Castleton Av Depot), SIM35 (shared with Castleton Av Depot).

Yukon Depot [edit]

The Yukon Depot is located on 40 Yukon Avenue between Richmond Avenue and Forest Hill Road in the center of Staten Island, near Fresh Kills Park and south of the Staten Island Mall.[28][245] Ground broke on the depot on January 23, 1978.[11] The depot opened on September 13, 1981,[5] relieving overcrowding at the Castleton Depot, and replacing the Edgewater Depot.[5] It was built to store 250 buses,[235] and can now store around 400.[236][238] This depot houses the buses used on the following routes:

History

In 2004, the Commission identified the need for a new bus garage to meet future demand by the end of 2006. The Commission approved construction of Mount Denni Division in October 2004. The 23,000-square-metre facility would have a capacity of 250 buses and include provisions for articulated buses.

Official groundbreaking for the new $78.5 million facility took place on August 18th, 2005 with members of all three levels of government in attendence.[1] Constructior began in the winter of 2006. The garage was due to open in September 2007, however operating budget cuts meant the opening would be deferred to the following year.[2] Mount Dennis Division officially opened on December 11, 2008, though operations began on November 23 coincident with new peak level service improvements.

Oasis Mirage (mythic rare)
4GU
Legendary Enchantment
You may have lands you play enter the battlefield as a copy of any permanent on the battlefield.

Caring about lands that you play entering the battlefield rather than lands you control entering the battlefield is an unusual hair to split. Be very careful if you want to lean on that distinction.

Wow, what a crazy ability! This is terrific.

This looks broken to me. Once this resolves, all your ramp spells become the best thing in play. Explosive Vegetation, get you and your opponent's biggest, baddest creatures or planeswalker sounds way too strong to me. But the scariest thing about this is that lands are uncounterable and can't be responded to. There is no opportunity for counterplay once this resolves. This card is very difficult to play against.

This will function much like Spitting Image, except you don't get a clone up front and you can copy any permanent, not just creatures. I'd want to playtest with this to see how confusing it is to have lands that are copies of things rather than tokens that are copies of things.

This is a great mythic rare design. It's unique and it makes players try to figure out how to best use it.

Heart's Desire (mythic rare)

Enchantment
If you would search your library for a card or cards, search for twice as many cards that fit the search criteria instead.

Some cards like Cultivate that refer to a singular "the other" can easily enough be brushed off as affecting "the others," which is a power level issue rather than rules. Protean Hulk boggles in confusion, though—two sets with total converted mana cost 6, or one? I'd aim the text simpler to get straight to the point and only mention the bits you care about:

> While searching your library for one or more cards, you may search for up to twice that many cards.

I would reword this to search twice (since I am not confident "twice as many" always works), but it is a very interesting idea.

I like this card. It can lead to a lot of searching and shuffling (because you are building around it), which will slow down gameplay, but I think it is expensive enough where the amount of decks it will appear in is limited. I think this card looks fun.

This reads as pretty appealing for players (not me, mind you!) who enjoy Tutors, but I'd be shocked if it actually works with many search effects. What does this do with Long-Term Plans? What about Scion of the Ur-Dragon?

Doubling searches? I think I'm in love. My only criticism of this card is a self-criticism that I didn't think of it first.

Design 8

Ral, Living Experiment (mythic rare)
4UR
Legendary Planeswalker — Ral
4
+2: Discard a card. If you do, draw two cards.
0: Instant and sorcery spells you cast cost 1 less to cast this turn.
-9: Take an extra turn after this one. During that turn, whenever you cast an instant or sorcery spell, copy it. You may choose new targets for the copy.

This is a very clear Ral design.

This is nice. All abilities are appealing, the entire package works, and it is in character for Ral.

A cost-reduction ability on a six-mana planeswalker seems out of place to me. The ultimate doesn't seem very splashy to me; generally we want our ultimates to help bring the game to a close, but this ability is only going to close out games under certain circumstances (when you're ahead on board and/or have a powerful spell to double).

This both seems like a flavorful capturing of Ral Zarek and fun card to play. I particularly like the ultimate in that it allows you to take many turns setting it up. My one change is I might make the second ability an emblem so that it could interact with the ultimate.

Design 9

Pam, Shapeshifting Planeswalker (mythic rare)
2GU
Legendary Planeswalker — Pam
3
+1: You may choose a creature or non-Pam planeswalker on the battlefield. If you do, Pam becomes a copy of that creature or planeswalker and gains indestructible until end of turn. If Pam becomes a copy of a planeswalker, she may activate a loyalty ability once this turn as though none of her loyalty abilities have been activated this turn.
-2: Create a 3/3 green Ooze creature token.
-6: For each player, search his or her library for a creature or planeswalker card and put it onto the battlefield under your control. Then each player shuffles his or her library.

Be wary of giving planeswalkers indestructible—it won't save the planeswalker from damage-based removal, but if you say that a planeswalker gets it, it's easy to misconstrue that as your intent.

This is novel, but it takes so much text I don't know that it is fruitful.

I think this is a very cool +1. All of these abilities seem reasonable to me, as far as costs and numbers go. One concern I see here is the ultimate can be very time-consuming in a multiplayer game. Think about all the other players waiting around while you search each library. However, that is an easy fix, and overall I like this a lot.

I like the idea of a green-blue planeswalker that can shapeshift. The Ooze token is a nice simple thing that feels like it could fit thematically with a shapeshifting character. I really hate Bribery effects, but I guess as a planeswalker's ultimate it's okay, and if you have loyalty left over afterwards you can clone whatever the biggest thing is on your next turn. Just be careful of cards that punish players for casting good creatures (or planeswalkers) or even for including them in their deck.

I like each of your three activated abilities. Unfortunately, I don't understand what they have to do with one another. The key to good planeswalker design is to create something that allows the player to have an interesting set of interconnecting paths to explore, that by using the abilities in a certain order you can achieve some larger victory. Your paths don't really interconnect. On top of that your flavor doesn't bind them together either. Pam's a shapeshifter. That explains the +1 activation. Why is she making Oozes? Why is she able to summon other people's creatures and planeswalkers? It neither mechanically nor flavorfully hangs together. In short, I like your pieces, but they don't seem to be from the same jigsaw puzzle.

Sorin, The Prequel (mythic rare)
3WB
Legendary Planeswalker — Sorin
4
+2: Each opponent loses 1 life and you gain 1 life.
-3: Exile target nonland permanent an opponent controls until Sorin, The Prequel leaves the battlefield.
-10: Create a legendary 8/8 white Angel creature token named Avacyn, Angel of Hope with flying, vigilance, indestructible, and other permanents you control have indestructible.

This fits, but I don't like piling on "the whole game is removing this planeswalker."

There is some interesting tension here with exiling a creature and then having to protect this planeswalker or else they get their creature back. However I think as a package this planeswalker is very weak. It's pretty expensive at five, and when you plus it all you're getting is a drain. Since the plus is not worth doing, then you're putting this in your deck to use the minus, and this minus is not worth five mana. It looks like this card was made with multiplayer in mind, if it was I think it would be more interesting if the ability scaled with the number of players in the game (exile a creature for each player). As is, I believe this card is too weak to excite players.

This is nice and flavorful. The +2 ability plays into Sorin's primary identity as a Vampire. The -3 ability resembles the Helvault's ability, and Sorin's ultimate creates an Avacyn token. If we ever did some sort of flashback set about early Innistrad, a design like this might be appropriate.

My notes on this card are similar to my notes on your last planeswalker. I like the pieces, but they don't add up to a compelling whole. If Avacyn, for example was a / creature where her power and toughness was equal to your life total, then your life drain to get to the ultimate would have meant something. If anything, your middle ability decreases the chances you'll ever get to the ultimate, because once you lock something away, the ultimate essentially turns into -11 as you want Sorin to survive the ultimate. I do appreciate the flavor, and the tie to Sorin helps make this feel more cohesive than Pam, but there is still a bunch of tweaking I would want to see before we printed this.

Jori, Archaeologist (mythic rare)
1BG
Legendary Planeswalker — Jori
3
+2: Put the top 2 cards of your library into your graveyard. Gain 2 life.
-2: Return target permanent card from your graveyard to your hand.
-7: Until end of turn, you may play cards from your graveyard. If a card would be put into your graveyard from anywhere this turn, exile that card instead.

Keep in mind that Jori's last ability will stop "when something dies" triggers when nontoken permanents die, but not tokens. Do you want to risk players misplaying, or play it safe and just have "a card or token" exiled if it tries to go to your graveyard?

This is a straightforward, solid planeswalker design.

Three-mana planeswalkers are tricky to make because they are much harder to deal with than four-mana planeswalkers by a significant amount. This comes down before the opponent has a board presence. For this reason, we usually start off three-mana planeswalkers with low loyalty. You started yours at three and it immediately goes to five. While it does not do anything on the plus, the opponent will have to invest a lot of resources in killing this. That said, I think this design is very cool. It has some fun play patterns (mill yourself, fill your graveyard, cast all your stuff, get back permanents when you need to do that). I am usually going to be happy activating any of the abilities and the choices are interesting, whether I want to work up to the ultimate or minus to get a key card back. I think this planeswalker is great if we adjust the numbers.

A tight package where every ability works together in a cohesive way. The Yawgmoth's Will ultimate is saucy! As I said above, planeswalkers are hard, and this one is pretty compelling. This card doesn't have any way to protect itself with its abilities, so it might want to start with higher loyalty (and have a corresponding higher ultimate cost).

This is another cool design. It leans a bit more black, but there's enough green in the design to justify the two colors. I wonder whether the ultimate should just be an emblem rather than an "until end of turn" effect.

Saheeli, Prodigious Inventor (mythic rare)
2UR
Planeswalker — Saheeli
4
+1: If you control no thopters, create a 1/1 colorless thopter artifact creature token with flying. Otherwise, scry 2.
-2: Target thopter you control becomes a copy of target artifact or creature. It's still an artifact. (This effect doesn't end at end of turn.)
-8: You get an emblem with At the beginning of your end step, search your library for an artifact card with converted mana cost X or less, where X is two plus the highest converted mana cost among artifacts you control. Put it onto the battlefield, then shuffle your library.

I like the abilities, but I doubt they all fit. Also, I would not be surprised if the middle ability needs to be -X based on the converted mana cost of the copied permanent, so I would try and find a significantly shorter ultimate, one short enough to fit the converted mana cost text.

Four-mana walkers that create tokens on the +1 are risky in Constructed, and this is a nice way to mitigate that risk. The minus ability creates tracking issues as I must remember which Thopter is which creature, especially if this is activated multiple times.

This card presents significant user experience problems. Let's talk through my imagined scenario: I activate the +1 ability with an otherwise empty board. I get a Thopter, putting a cardboard token with "Thopter" printed on it onto the table. All good. My opponent doesn't want to cast their cool creature on their turn, because I will just clone it. I cast my own cool creature, then I activate Saheeli's -2 to clone it. However, the clone is represented by the cardboard token with "Thopter" written on it. Okay? On my next turn, I go to activate my +1 ability again. Wait, can I do this? Suddenly the fact that my -2 ability over-writes my Thopter token's creature type is very relevant, but not at all obvious from how the game state is physically represented. This seems unnecessarily confusing to me. Similarly, the ultimate ability shines a spotlight on the fact that copies of things have the same converted mana cost as the original, but again, my token won't have that information on it. All these criticisms aside, I like that all the abilities relate to each other in a way that makes the card feel cohesive. It feels like Saheeli to me, making artifact copies of things.

Planeswalkers are hard to design, partially because they have a lot of technical restrictions and partially because matching the flavor of the Planeswalker is difficult. I think you did a good job here. Now to nitpick. I like that the first ability restricts how many Thopters you have at one time, but I feel you got a little cheaty sneaking two effects onto one ability. The final ability interacts with the second ability, making you want to use them together, but the fact that they're both negative loyalty abilities means this will almost never actually happen.

Mugai Creation Saga (mythic rare)
5GGUU
Sorcery
Do both of these, in either order -
* Draw a card for each creature you control.
* Create a 2/2 green Bear creature token for each card in your hand.

This breaks a couple rules about modal spells, but hey, rules were made to be broken! Wait, that's not what I'm supposed to say, is it? This design is a wonderful example of something that the rules specifically forbid (spells always do their things in the printed order) but only because there's not an exception that we need to point out. You stretched your design and found an exception; that's easy to write rules for.

This is a delightful elegant and innovative design; it is your best card. I think the template is flexible enough that it is worthy of an exploration for a splashy spell cycle.

This looks very cool and leads to interesting choices. My biggest problem is how expensive this is to cast. Nine mana is a lot to ask for and many players don't reach this amount of mana naturally. When you get to that late in the game, you probably don't have very many cards in your hand, making this card much less of a choice. If you're playing a ramp deck, I don't think this is an exciting payoff at nine mana.

I love the idea of choosing the order in which the card's modes are executed. I wonder if there are enough similar designs to turn this into a cycle. A+! I don't think this needs to cost nine mana necessarily, but that's a minor quibble.

I really like this design. It's both relatively simple but complex in its strategic application. It's also splashy and unique. I agree with Erik that this design would inspire me to design a cycle around it (I'd probably move it down to rare, not that this card in a vacuum can't be mythic rare, it's just a lot to commit to a mythic rare cycle). I also agree with Melissa and Ethan that I wouldn't want this to be so expensive to cast. Big thumbs up!

+1: You may sacrifice a creature. If you do, return a creature card from your graveyard to your hand.
-2: Target creature gets +2/+2 until end of turn. Another target creature gets -2/-2 until end of turn.
-7: You get an emblem with Whenever a creature dies, each opponent loses 3 life and you may draw a card.

An important part of planeswalker design is answering the question "What am I going to do the turn I cast this?" This doesn't answer the question very well. If the player doesn't control a creature, and the opponent only controls one creature, there isn't much to do. I suggest changing the second ability to accommodate boards with only one creature, such as not requiring giving a creature +2/+2.

This card is a solid four-mana planeswalker. My problem with it is that it is not very exciting or doing anything special. Planeswalkers are our story characters and some of the most important card in the set, and this character has no identity and doesn't feel very different from other characters from the past. I dislike the +1 because it leads to repetitive gameplay. Since you are adding loyalty, you are incentivized to activate this ability the most, and you are always going to return your strongest creature. I don't think the play pattern is fun here. I would have made this a minus, so you can't just do this over and over.

I like how cohesive this design feels. Both the plus and the minus ability interact with the emblem (usually). I'm a bit concerned that neither of the top two abilities do much if you don't have a creature on the battlefield. This card may be too narrow in its application to see much play in Standard, which is where we position most of our planeswalkers to hit.

This planeswalker manages to both be flavorful and mechanically interconnected. (This is very hard to do, by the way. You all are making it look easier than it is.) I like how the card blends black and green abilities in a way that holistically feels connected. I also think it leads to an interesting deck to build. Finally, the play pattern of this card feels fun and super black-green. I would change the first ability to exile the creature instead of sacrificing it to lessen the repetition of the card.

1: Exile up to one target creature card from a graveyard.
-1: Target player reveals their hand. You choose a nonland card from it. Exile that card.
-2: Exile target permanent.
When CARDNAME leaves the battlefield, at the beginning of the next end step, return each card exiled with her to its owner's hand.

Often planeswalkers create a problem in that removing them is so critical that their presence on the battlefield leaves no interesting decisions. Your design however allows the player to hedge and exile creatures from their own graveyard, making the opponent think twice about destroying it. This design is a winner.

Having a dies trigger on a planeswalker is interesting, and this design gives both you and the opponent a good amount of tension, which will lead to fun gameplay.

None of this card's abilities interact with each other; even the -1 ability exiles the card from hand so you can't exile it from the graveyard later with the +1 ability. The rate on this card seems very strong to me; it can exile two permanents or four cards from hand for only four mana. The +1 ability is irrelevant under most circumstances, and probably won't be activated unless the opponent has already been completely stripped of resources. There is little for me to like about this design.

This is the first planeswalker design I've ever seen with a death trigger. I like how each of the abilities connects to the death trigger. I also like that it's a planeswalker where its controller will occasionally choose to kill it on purpose. I'll disagree with Ethan and say, all in all, this card is a nice little package of a design.

Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for 29

Psalms
Chapter 25/150

No one whose hope is in you will ever be put to shame, but they will be put to shame who are treacherous without excuse. 3

Show me your ways, O LORD, teach me your paths; 4 guide me in your truth and teach me, for you are God my Savior, and my hope is in you all day long. 5

Remember, O LORD, your great mercy and love, for they are from of old. 6

Remember not the sins of my youth and my rebellious ways; according to your love remember me, for you are good, O LORD. 7

Good and upright is the LORD; therefore he instructs sinners in his ways. 8

He guides the humble in what is right and teaches them his way. 9

All the ways of the LORD are loving and faithful for those who keep the demands of his covenant. 10

For the sake of your name, O LORD, forgive my iniquity, though it is great. 11

Who, then, is the man that fears the LORD? He will instruct him in the way chosen for him. 12

He will spend his days in prosperity, and his descendants will inherit the land 13

Therefore, there is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus, 1 because through Christ Jesus the law of the Spirit of life set me free from the law of sin and death. 2

For what the law was powerless to do in that it was weakened by the sinful nature, God did by sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful man to be a sin offering. And so he condemned sin in sinful man, 3 in order that the righteous requirements of the law might be fully met in us, who do not live according to the sinful nature but according to the Spirit. 4

Those who live according to the sinful nature have their minds set on what that nature desires; but those who live in accordance with the Spirit have their minds set on what the Spirit desires. 5

The mind of sinful man is death, but the mind controlled by the Spirit is life and peace; 6 the sinful mind is hostile to God. It does not submit to God's law, nor can it do so. 7

Those controlled by the sinful nature cannot please God. 8

You, however, are controlled not by the sinful nature but by the Spirit, if the Spirit of God lives in you. And if anyone does not have the Spirit of 9

Israelites.

I will give you every place where you set your foot, 3
as I promised Moses.

Your territory will extend from the desert 4 to Lebanon, and from the great river, the Euphrates––all the Hittite country––to the Great Sea on the west.

No one will be able to stand up against you all the 5 days of your life. As I was with Moses, so I will be with you; I will never leave you nor forsake you.

"Be strong and courageous, because you will lead 6 these people to inherit the land I swore to their forefathers to give them.

Be strong and very courageous. Be careful to obey 7 all the law my servant Moses gave you; do not turn from it to the right or to the left, that you may be successful wherever you go.

Do not let this Book of the Law depart from your 8 mouth; meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do everything written in it. Then you will be prosperous and successful.

Have I not commanded you? Be strong and 9 courageous. Do not be terrified; do not be discouraged, for the LORD your God will be with you wherever you go."

So Joshua ordered the officers of the people 10 have eternal life.

This is the confidence we have in approaching 14
God: that if we ask anything according to his will,
he hears us.

And if we know that he hears us––whatever we 15 ask––we know that we have what we asked of him.

If anyone sees his brother commit a sin that does 16 not lead to death, he should pray and God will give him life. I refer to those whose sin does not lead to death. There is a sin that leads to death. I am not saying that he should pray about that.

All wrongdoing is sin, and there is sin that does 17 not lead to death.

We know that anyone born of God does not 18 continue to sin; the one who was born of God keeps him safe, and the evil one cannot harm him.

We know that we are children of God, and that the 19 whole world is under the control of the evil one.

We know also that the Son of God has come 20 and has given us understanding, so that we may know him who is true. And we are in him who is true––even in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.

Dear children, keep yourselves from idols. 21

It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Stand firm, then, and do not let yourselves be burdened again by a yoke of slavery. 1

Mark my words! I, Paul, tell you that if you let yourselves be circumcised, Christ will be of no value to you at all. 2

Again I declare to every man who lets himself be circumcised that he is obligated to obey the whole law. 3

You who are trying to be justified by law have been alienated from Christ; you have fallen away from grace. 4

But by faith we eagerly await through the Spirit the righteousness for which we hope. 5

For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision has any value. The only thing that counts is faith expressing itself through love. 6

You were running a good race. Who cut in on you and kept you from obeying the truth? 7

That kind of persuasion does not come from the one who calls you. 8

"A little yeast works through the whole batch of dough." 9

I am confident in the Lord that you will take no other view. The one who is throwing you into 10

Commander 2020 – Ikoria Commander

Gavin was quick to discuss how much the format has grown since the initial Commander product, and how much has changed since 2011 when the first Commander preconstructed decks were released. As a result, the release schedule will be going through some new changes. Commander 2020 is now going to be tied to the release of Ikoria: Lair of Behemoths, a regular set release in mid-April. The set will also shift back to a series of five preconstructed decks, rather than the four decks we've received ever since Commander 2017.

Best of all, these preconstructed decks will contain an unprecedented 71 new cards.

REPORT AD

This is the first time a Commander set will be tied in

Zendikar Rising Commander Decks

One of the most exciting revelations from this announcement is that there won't just be one set of Commander decks! A second batch of Commander preconstructed decks will be be tied to the release of Zendikar Rising, outside of the traditional one-per-year release of Commander products. These decks will replace the Planeswalker Decks that previously accompany new full-size sets.

Notably, these decks will contain only three new cards per deck – almost certainly the legendary creatures that helm them – while the rest of the cards in the deck will be reprints. Though some may initially hear that line and think, "Only three new cards?", many of us are delighted at the prospect of increasing the avenues for reprints of exciting format

Commander Legends

The biggest part of the announcement is dedicated to what could easily be one of the biggest and most impactful products for the format ever: Commander Legends.

Commander Legends is a brand new set for Commander players. Not a preconstructed product, but a full-on booster set designed to answer the question, "What if you could draft Commander?" The set will contain not only a ton of reprints, but also a ton of new cards, including a whopping 70 new legends.

70. New. Legends. Most sets have like 8 legendary creatures! Even Dominaria only had 44! This set will have 70!

REPORT AD

Unlike the decks tied to Ikoria and Zendikar Rising, the Commander Legends isn't done yet! It will follow suit with Ikoria and Zendikar Rising by having two more preconstructed decks to accompany the set! Like the Zendikar Rising precons, these will also have three new cards, and even more reprints from outside the main set. This means we have a total of NINE preconstructed Commander decks coming into the fold in 2020, more than the past two years combined. Imagine if we'd gotten Commander 2016 and Commander 2017 in the same year. That's about where we're at in the year 2020.

2020 is Legendary

A recurring phrase came up often during the announcement video: “It is a great time to be a Commander player.” This couldn’t be more true; Gavin’s excitement is matched only by the sheer number of upcoming products coming in 2020.

It is hard to narrow down what to be the most excited for, especially as there seems to be a product for all levels of players. Ikoria Commander takes the usual precon deck formula and gives it an exciting new twist. Zendikar Rising and Commander Legends preconstructed decks appear to be designed as a readily available, constant gateway into the format, so new players always have starting points year-round. Commander Legends is ready to appease even the most advanced players with their deckbuilding skills as they construct decks on the fly. Even Commander
